The National Trust's Summer of Play is well underway at Treissick near Truro. Families can try traditional games on the West Lawn, dress up and perform in the pop-up theatre and have a go at archery every Friday. The garden is a great place to explore - offering stunning views of the Fal estuary and the café is serving lunch, hot and cold drinks, and ice creams. Activities are free (normal admission applies), sponsored by Starling Bank and Sports England.
